

M&M Manufacturing Acquires Snappy™ Company

CHESTERFIELD, MO – December 16, 2016 – MiTek Industries, Inc. (“MiTek”), a diversified, global business supplying a wide range of engineered products, proprietary business management and design software, and automated equipment sold into the broad construction and industrial end markets, today announced that its subsidiary, M&M Manufacturing, has acquired Snappy Company.

Snappy is a leading supplier of metal duct systems for the residential HVAC market, with manufacturing facilities in Detroit Lakes, MN; Medina, NY; and corporate offices in Marietta, GA.

Snappy will complement M&M Manufacturing, a leading producer of sheet metal products, primarily servicing the air distribution and ventilation markets. M&M Manufacturing will invest in Snappy’s manufacturing capabilities, expertise, and infrastructure.

“We are excited to welcome Snappy in the family of MiTek companies,” stated Tom Manenti, Chairman and CEO of MiTek. “The experience and relationships of Snappy and M&M will be leveraged across all of our manufacturing platforms in order to expand capacity and customer service levels. Combining the manufacturing capacities of M&M Manufacturing and Snappy will allow both companies to better serve our customers and grow in the markets we serve together.”

“Snappy has been a market leader for more than 60 years,” added Rob Felton, President of M&M Manufacturing, “and Snappy’s reputation has been built on a heritage of great customer service, product innovation, and a focus on people. That’s a perfect fit for M&M

Manufacturing, and we look forward to leveraging each others' expertise and capabilities."
